Judge Webster had an hour question and answer session with the Executive Seminar students. Among the new DCI's observations:

The Executive Seminar

'I support the idea of the seminar; particularly the opportunity of new executives to meet and discuss issues with higher management.'

'Now that you are a supergrade, I expect you to be a broad gauge officer. Your horizon must now be the whole Agency, not just your part of the universe.'

'I have a great interest in career development. I plan eventually to turn my attention to that...'

What Is the Toughest Challenge Facing CIA?

'The critical need to restore a sense of trust and confidence in our professionalism among the American public, and particularly among those with whom we deal directly.'

A Fixed Term for the DCI?

'There is a common misunderstanding that the FBI Director has a fixed term of 10 years. In fact, the FBI director serves at the pleasure of the President. That's the way it should be. The law only stipulates that the Director of the FBI cannot serve for more than ten years.'

'I believe that the Director of CIA's tenure should not be directly tied to the election results. We have postured our team to stay on beyond the forthcoming Presidential election.'

Your Operating Style

'If you give me information, and then change the factual base; I have trouble with that. That's the way my mind works.'
